

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A gymnastic apparatus for walking and running exercises, comprising a platform for resting on the floor which is provided in an upper region with a pair of bars for user grip and forms a treading surface for walking and 5 running in place; the treading surface is constituted by a plurality of parallel rollers that are supported so that they can rotate freely transversely within the platform.